NEW YORK CITY, January 23. To Editor Washington Evening Star:

In your issue of Saturday, headed "The Mexican Treaty; the Senate Declines to Ratify It at Present," I find the following paragraph:

"A member of Congress said to a Star re porter to-day: 'There were some votes, everal of them at least, cast against th Mexican treaty in the Senate, for this ro were partners in Mexico, and they obtained some large concessions from they obtained some large concessions from that Government in relation to railroad and steamboat lines. Now Grant is a United States Commissioner, and Romero the Mexican Commissioner, and both of them were exceedingly anxious to have the treaty ratified. It was suspected, and really I can't say it was more than suspicion, that these two men, partners in business, had big private interests in that treaty, that it would aid them in developing monopolies they want, and as no real good could be discovered in the treaty, nothing potent enough to outweigh this suspicion, why several Senators whom I know of concluded the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the salest plan to be to vote against the control of the control

The Senate yesterday made thirty-five soft places by voting a thousand-dollar clerk to each Senator who is not chairman of a committee. The resolution of Mr. Batler should have been entitled, "A scheme to encourage nepotism." The sons of Senators will doubtless come in for a full share of the places.

The narrow gauge railroad chartered yesterday has a formidable list of incorporators. The project of building such a road from Weston to the river is already familiar to our readers, and fortunately, unlike most of the roads chartered in the interior of this State, it bids fair to be something more than a railroad on paper.

Senator Camper does not seem to take much stock in the alleged Pennsylvania syndicate to develope West Virginis oil terditory. It would be strange if he did.

There is no steamboat charter or other monopoly in which I have the elightest pecuniary interest. There have always been several avowed candididates, and, after much balloting, either one of them was nominated or eise some dark horse was eprung and snate ed the prize from their grasp. This time I think it will be otherwise. The next convention will be a deliberate body. I do not mean to eay that the great majority of the delegates will not come in the interest of this or that candidate, but I think there will be no attempt to rush any candidate through. The delegates will come to Chicago disposed to consult with each other, and it will be the undertow that will name the successful man. doubtful struggle, but then, again, matter may assume such a shape that the election may go overwhelmingly one way. For example, the nomination of Ben Butler and his entrance into the fight are apt to mix matters. Should he be nominated early in the spring by labor organizations, he in the spring by labor organizations, he will enter the Democratic Convention armed with a pretty large club. Thoy will have to hesitate before they ignore his claims. A man who can get 152,000 votes in Massachusetts against the Republican candidate is not to be passed by without due consideration. Batter has quite a large personal following in the country, and much of it is outside of what people are apt to call the dangerous classes. You find men who wear broadcloth who are for him as well as the horny-handed son of a candidate, supposing that a mere ma jority is needed. Usually it has require two-thirds to nominate in Democratic con printy is necessed. Colamby it has required two-thirds to nominate in Democratic conventions. Now, people suppose the South will be solid against Butter, but they may be mistaken. They want the man who can win, it matters not what his name may be. And if Butter should be nominated, those who think he would lose Southern States will find they are mistaken. They are going to vote the Democratic tickst."

"Do you think the Democratic tickst."

Of course stringent laws would be passed to make such acts dangerous, but aside from any law, there are two answers to that objection to the treaty, either of which, in itself, is conclusive as against that objection. First, Mexico has a higher tariff upon sugar than the United States has, and they have no provision in their laws for rebate duties provision in their laws for rebate duties and a farm hand named Jonas. Washington, D. C., January 23 -Mr.

Morrison is sorely perplexed regarding the character of his proposed tariff bill. On the one side he is urged to bring before the House a simple proposition to reduce present duties from filteen to twenty-five present duties from fifteen to twenty-five percent, and on the other to bring forward a new tariff bill altogether, which will make a reduction on some articles and slight ones on others. His own inclinations layor the latter course, but there is so much opposition from a class of Democrate who, while advocating a revenue reform, are still anxious to protect some local industry in their own State, that he hardly knows what to do. One of the most aggressive free traders in the House declared to-day that the constituency behind the members opposed to protection would not sanction nor be satisfied with any bill which failed to take off the duties entirely upon certain articles, and reduce largely the duties upon others. "What we want," said the Congressman, "is a new tariff bill drawn in the interest of revenue reform, and this we intend to have or know the reason why. Mr. Morrison can't satisfy us with a sop and I think he realizes this as well as anybody and will not be driven by the class of D mocrate who get their tariff inspiration from Mr. Randall into submitting any half way measure. Mr. Morrison wants to be the next candidate of our party for President, and he knows, in the classic language of S. S. Cox, that his 'goose is cooked' if he ungless a mistake, as the leader of the House on the question of tariff. I am a friend of Mr. Morrison, and I have seen nothing as yet to weaken my confidence in him that he intends to stand up manially for 'revenue reform,' the issue sercent, and on the other to bring forward up manially for 'revenue reform,' the issue on which we elected Mr. Carlisle Speaker over Randall."

It is aneged that the Pittsburgh Southern Railway Company is insolvent, and is indebted to the Buttimore & Ohio Cempany to the amount of the three mentioned mortgages, aggregating $500,000 of principal and all the interest in arraer; that the defendant company has flating debts to the amount of $200,000 that they cannot pay, and that the complainants, Scully and Davis, have been requested by the Company to proceed against the defendants, to recover in a sale of the premises the proceeds of the mortgages.

They therefore ask the Court to declare the mortgage of July, 1879, a first lien on the premises described therein; the mortgage of December 12, 1882, a first lien on the Streets Run branch and the relocated portion of the road above named, subject only to the mortgage of July, 1870, and the micrigage of December 10, 1883, a second lien upon the Streets Run Branch and the relocated portion of the relocated road above named, subject only to the mortgage of Branch and the protion of the relocated road above formed, subject only to the mortgage of July, 1870, and the micrigage of December 10, 1883, a second lien upon the Streets Run Branch and the relocated road above formed, and the micrigage of the relocated road above formed claims of defendants claiming to hold liene; order a sale of the road and appoint a master in equity.

A BOSTON CRANK.

He Sacrifices his Jewelry Stock and Le-vanus to Chicago. CHICAGO, January 23.—Detective Halloran yesterday was approached by a well dressed stranger, who asked to be locked large amount of money from a Boston firm. The officer accompanied the stranger to the T. E. De Rone, and stated that he lived at snot, a large sum of money, a gold watch and chain, and some valuable jewelry were found on his person. A telegram was sent at once to the chief of police of Boston, notifying him of De Rone's statement and arrest, and late last night an answer was received stating that De Rone was a well-to-doj weler, and had wandered away from his home while in a demented condition. He said he had been conducting a lucra Hesaid no had been conducting a lucrative jewelry business at the "Hub," for more than twelve years About three weeks ago he purchased $1,500 worth of goods from New York house, giving his note for thirty days in payment. He said: "I was suddenly seized, with a strong desire to sell those goods and cheat my creditors. I did sell about one-half of them, and the remainder I returned to the precess force. to sell those goods and cheat my creditors. I did sell about one-half: of them, and the remainder I returned to the persons from whom I purchased them. It was an uncontrollable passion, and three weeks ago Sunday night I sold cut my business and stock for $500. It was worth $15,000. I don't know whom I sold it to. When I had sold out, I went to a depot in Boston, purchased a ticket for San Francisco, and left on the next train for the west, arriving in Chicago thirty-six hours later. Fromheral went to Ogden, Utah, and on arriving there I came to the conclusion that it would be better in return. I purchased a return ticket to Chicago, and here I am."

The convention last night was about one-third Greenbackers and nearly two-thirds Democrats, the remainder Knights of Lubor. S. A. Riggs, the nominee, is a Greenbacker, Acors, a Democrat, and Hillacker, a Knight of Labor. If the union between the Democrats and Greenbackers can be perfected at the ballot box Riggs will have a majority, but his extreme free trade views and communistic utterances, taken in connection with the disastisfaction of the Democrats at the defeat of Acors, will probably produce a rupture.
